Intro

I hope that all is well with you, and that the first half of the year has been as great for you as it has been for me!

It's been awhile since I last wrote, and I can't believe it's June already. The year is flying by.

I recently moved to a place where there is a huge shop in which to do my artwork! Now I can weld and grind the metal at almost any time of day and not bother the neighbors (though I do miss my Wendel Cove neighbors)! I have been keeping busy with moving, creating new pieces, and participating in art shows. Keep reading for a summary of the shows, new works and upcoming shows!

What's Up In My Art World?

Summary of Past Shows:

- April 14-15: Woodlands Waterway Festival, Woodlands, TX - Even though it was cold the first day of the show, I still had a great time. I was able to talk and visit with a lot of people, and perhaps secure an exhibition at a new store opening in Houston. While I was here, I heard a singer named Jessica Collins. Her music was awesome. My favorite song on her album is Stop. Be sure to check her music out!

- April 28-29: Georgetown Red Poppy Festival in Georgetown, TX - This, also, was a beautiful and productive weekend! An exhibition is planned for October thanks to this show!
- May 25-28: Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair in Kerrville, TX - Though meteorologists

- forecasted the weather to be rainy, three out of the four days were perfect. It wasn't too hot, nor was it too cold! It was just right!!

I am scheduled for several shows throughout the summer, and some pending in the fall and winter. Please see below, or the calendar on the website, for show details.

Quite a few new pieces have been completed lately. It is always extremely gratifying when each piece is complete. Please see below for the new pieces.

The year has been awesome so far!
